FROM THE ARTISTIC DIRECTOR

Welcome Back! I can't tell you how happy I am to say those words to you. And thank you. Who would ever have imagined on March 13, 2020, when I had to walk into the rehearsal hall and tell a group of talented actors and musicians to go home because Georgia Ensemble Theatre was going dark for a little while as we waited out this unanticipated global pandemic, that it would be over a year and a half before we would once again be able to practice our mission: To unite artists and audiences of all ages. But here we all are once again, the actors, artists, and you the audience.

So many things of importance happened during that time of isolation, reflection, and solitude. And I for one took away many new lessons--most importantly, how tender and fragile the human heart is, and while we are all different and unique, the similarities are much greater than the differences. So when Jim Donadio and I were curating a "comeback" season it was important to us to tell stories that celebrate the differences while emphasizing those similarities. I am so delighted to be presenting this 2021-22 season to you.

Ain't Misbehavin' celebrates the music of Fats Waller, an incredible composer & jazz musician who expressed his life condition through the songs he wrote and performed. As you listen tonight, your imagination may take you through the highs and lows of this masterful artist. I hope you will recognize the heart of this man who, like most of us, was in search of love, had great highs and lows, a playful side, a serious side, a longing to be the best he could be. I owe a huge debt of gratitude to S. Renee Clark, our Director and Music Director, who created an environment where the actors and musicians could create with abandon; to the artists on our stage, Jaymyria, Latrice, Melodie, Fenner, Lawrence, Louis, Lorenzo, Ramon, Lester, James, and Earl, who are the face of our mission; and to our creative team, whose talent inspires me, many of whom are working with Georgia Ensemble Theatre (GET) for the first time. Without exception, everyone has gone that extra mile to make this an extraordinary opportunity to carry out our mission.

We are so happy to be seeing the light at the end of the tunnel. During the pandemic, we moved our offices and classrooms to a brand new location, furloughed all of our staff, reorganized our internal structures, had frank talks about our visions and dreams for the future of our organization, and began the process of hiring a mostly-new staff. It's a lot like starting a professional non-profit theatre from nothing and building it from the ground up. But fortunately, I've had some experience at that.

Speaking of those new offices and classrooms, please ask me about the GET Studio when I see you at intermission! We are so excited about the new possibilities that are opening up for us there. And I can't let this mention of the Studio go by without thanking the over 30 volunteers, from pre-teens to board members to grandpas, who gave their time and talents to helping us renovate our new space and move into it. Your contribution is invaluable. While we've been shut down, it's been hard for us to keep in contact with you and keep communication open. In fact, we are still struggling with the reliability of our phone lines. Thank you so much for your patience with us as we try to build new, more effective systems of communication, and please accept my apology if you felt overlooked or neglected. You've been in my heart all along, but I'm sorry that we didn't do a great job of staying in touch. I believe that, as we move forward, we'll all be more ready to lean on each other, to give one another grace, and to appreciate our shared humanity. You are so important to us. Thank you for being here.

STAFF & BOARD

Anita Allen-Farley, co-founder of Georgia Ensemble Theatre, held the position of Managing Director for 25 seasons before taking the role of Producing Artistic Director. She studied theatre at the Pasadena Playhouse College of Theatre Arts, where she met co-founder and partner Bob Farley. As Managing Director, she has produced over 150 shows over the past 25 seasons. By far, her most ambitious production and the one she is proudest of are two beautiful, talented and gracious daughters, Laurel and Heather, who have blossomed into strong and capable women in their own right. She has served on the Atlanta Arts and Business Council, Atlanta Arts Think Tank, the Board of the Atlanta Coalition of Performing Arts, is a member of the Cottage School Advisory Committee, was District Chair of ALL-GA, a graduate of the MAACC Arts Leadership Program and is a member of the Johns Hopkins Listening Post Project. She is also a proud member of the Roswell Rotary Club.

Caroline Caldwell (Production Manager) University of Georgia Alumni, graduating in 2016 with a Bachelor of Arts in Theatre. Her work in theatrical production has taken her from Athens to NYC, to Italy, and home to Atlanta. A recipient of the Edward Crouse Award with more than 60 shows to her credit, Caroline is thrilled to work alongside the multitude of talented artists and administrators at Georgia Ensemble Theatre.

Laurel Crowe (Education Director) has the distinct pleasure of being the very first student in the Conservatory back in 1992, and joined the staff of the Education Department in the 2009-2010 season! Laurel holds a B.A. in Speech and Theatre Arts from the University of West Georgia. She has worked in the Conservatory in every position including Director of the Performance Camp productions Seussical the Musical, Peter Pan, Willy Wonka Junior, Disney's The Little Mermaid Jr. and James and the Giant Peach Jr. Laurel appeared as "Mrs. Little" in the 2008 Theatre for Youth production of Stuart Little, and has directed and led the Theatre for Young Audiences (TYA) productions for many years. Notable favorite projects include Ramona Quimby, James and the Giant Peach, Junie B. Jones the Musical, The Giver, The Jungle Book, A Wrinkle in Time and Topher Payne's S.T.E.A.M. TEAM. It was an incredible honor to direct Driving Miss Daisy on our main stage in the 26th season, taking the helm of a ship that her father steered for so long.

James Donadio is the associate artistic director here at GET, but audiences will know of him as an actor and director in many shows since he was a member of the original core company in the inaugural 1992 season. His professional background includes working at theatres all over the country, including the Oregon, Colorado, and Alabama Shakespeare Festivals, the Asolo State Theatre, and here in Atlanta at the Alliance Theatre and every professional theatre in the area. While being a principal actor and director for Alabama Shakespeare Festival, James created the Master of Fine Arts/professional actor training program for the University of Alabama in residence at the Alabama Shakespeare Festival. He has also had artist in residencies at a number of colleges and universities including Tulane, University of Wisconsin, and San Francisco State University among others.

STAFF & BOARD

Lauren Frost (Leitalift recently graduated from Kennesaw State University with a Bachelor of Arts in Theatre and Performance Studies. At KSU, Lauren's main focuses were stage management and theatre education. She previously worked as a Drama Camp Counselor at the Jewish Community Center. She also was an English Language Arts and Drama teaching intern at the Global Village Project. Lauren is excited to join the Georgia Ensemble Theatre team as a teaching artist and administrative assistant!

Candy McLellan (Casting Associate) graduated from the University of West Georgia and is also a graduate of the 2016-17 acting apprentice company at Aurora Theatre. She's an actor, dancer, singer, choreographer, writer and teaching artist. Her professional credits include: In The Heights, Hunchback of Notre Dame (Co-Production w/Theatrical Outfit) Christmas Canteen, 3 Billy Goats Gruff, Sweep, Cinderella the Remix, Mamma Mial, Sleepy Hollow, Beat Bugs and Men With Money (Aurora Theatre), 110 in the Shade (Theatrical Outfit), Black Nerd (Dad's Garage), Aida and Oliver! (Atlanta Lyric), An Octoroon and Head Over Heels (Actor's Express), The Curious Incident of the Dog in the Nighttime (Horizon Theatre) and Caroline, or Change at West Coast Black Theatre Troupe in Florida. She recently choreographed Christmas in July at Aurora Theatre, Respect at Buicentennial and a concert version of Sunday In the Park with George. She is very excited to embark on this new journey as a casting associate for Georgia Ensemble Theatre.

Mary Saville (Communications Director) earned her Master's degree in Theatre Education from Emerson College (Boston). She has appeared on stage at GET (in Ramona Quimby) and has taught in the Conservatory since 2008, and is now in her fourth season as a full-time member of the Resources Department. Mary has taught theater in high schools and extra-curricular programs for over 15 years. She has also worked as an actor and director with companies such as Synchronicity, the Shakespeare Tavern, Stage Door Players, and many others in both Boston and Atlanta.

Taryn Spires (Education Assistant) is a graduate of Oglethorpe University where she received a Bachelor of Arts in Theatre and Japanese. She works in conjunction with the education department to develop arts based programming for local and global students. Taryn has been involved with multiple facets of the theatre community – from being the Leitalift Intern where she focused on production management, an Atlanta teaching artist, to a performer – she is always involved in new and exciting projects. She is beyond thrilled to be a part of the Georgia Ensemble Theatre family and is so proud to be joining their mission

Zoe Wright (Interim Box Office Manager) wasn't "born in a trunk in the Princess Theatre" – but close. She comes from a professional theatre family and has experience in every facet of production, performance, management, sales and fundraising. She is a graduate of Columbus State University with a B.A. in Theatre and studied at the Springer Theatre Academy at the State Theatre of Georgia for thirteen years. Zoe served as a development and box office associate at the Springer Opera House and as a box office sales associate at the Fox Theatre. Her passion is building audiences at GET and enhancing the theatre experience for our patrons.
